The Most Remarkable Ploture Yet Produced, Coming to the Auditor-

As a special feature, and the biggest attraction the Norwich public has ever seen in motion pictures, the management of the Auditorium has booked for the first three days of next week, July 5, 6, and 7. "Hyprocitess". This startling feature ran for several months at the Longacre theatre. New York city is an admission price of York city, at an admission price of 50c to $3.00, and the house was solid papers.

In offering Hypocrites, Bostworth outshines its own high standard by presenting a motion picture production that will create a stir in film circumstant of the circumstant of th cles. Written and produced by Loi Weber (Mrs. Phillips Smalley, of the well-known producers, The Smalleys), this play offers a subject that is reworking in strict secrecy, dies at the hands of his people for displaying the naked figure of Truth. Only two be-sides Gabriel can look upon the sta-tue without flinching, a little child and a woman who loves him. The un-veiling of the statute is made a fete day, and many people are present at this affair. These scences have been produced with much splendor, and the fine work is noticeable on the part of large mobs, which have been most ectively handled by the director. Gabriel is then shown as the minister of a present-day church. He is seen giving a passionate sermon, denouncing hyprocisy, but he is aware of the fact that his words have been in vain. In the congregation are the in vain. In the congregation are the same people, who, in the prologue, killed the monk. With the exception of two girls the congregation is either bored or shocked by his sermon. These two remain long after the others have left. One is a choir girl, who loves the minister, and another is a Magdalen. The minister finds a Sunday paper, which one of his choir boys has been reading during the sermon, and been reading during the sermon, and falls into a dream. He becomes the old Gabiel and meets Truth who through her mirror, shows him the hypocrisy to be found in society, the home, the love affair, politics, and even shows him the one person who tried to reach the gates of Truth did so only through

A special performance will be given A special performance will be given to the Mayor and City officials by special invitation at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon, July 4th. No chil-dren under sixteen years of age will be admitted to the theatre during the wing of this picture.

COLONIAL THEATRE. "Lifting the Ban of Coventry," Bril-Hant Three-reel Vitagraph.

One of the largest casts of all-star actors ever presented in one big mo-tion picture is presented today in the mammoth Vitagraph three-reel film entitled "Lifting the Ban of Covenity." Featured in this, are all of the prime favorites of the Vitagraph company, with James Morrison in the leading role. The story has to do with a vounce lightment whose had asserted. a young lieutenant whose bad associa-tes have drawn him into a marriage with a woman of the underworld. The marriage takes place while the lieu-ienant is under the influence of drink, and after the discovery of the state of affairs, he attempts to make the nost of it, and furnishes a home for the wife. This proves the making of her, and she becomes a model wife, but the ban of coventry is on, and even affects the child of the unhappy even affects the child of the unhappy narriage. The wonderful and telling yar with the Philippinos results in the oss of the husband and with this is ifted the terrible plight and ban. The Thumb Prints on the Safe", the text in the big girl-detective series, another attraction for today, and is illed, as usual, with thrilling and in-eresting events. Commecticut Food Ship for Beiglum.
Over 1500,000 women, children and other non-combatants are in the Belgian bread line. Unless America is to let starre those whom she has saved until now, more food must be supplied.

The Connecticut committee of the commission for relief in Belgium has set to work to load a "Connecticut food ship" jointly with the international commission, which has agreed to meet whatever is raised here dollar for dollar. All administration expenses are guaranteed; every cent contributed will reach Belgium in the shape of food.

The commission has offered to meet whatever we raise, dollar for dollar which has series and best bills ever offered in Norwich.

Today there will be a new vauville show and the attraction is Will Oakland, America's premier lyric tenor, and his associate singers in the delightful singing novelty. At the Club, Mr. Oakland has been singing for the Victor company for years and many have heard his voice in that way, but this is his first appearance in this city.

The new American serial, The Diamond From the Sky, a picturized novel, featuring Irving Cummings and Lottie Pickford (Little Mary's sister) is beind shown today. The first chapter is called A Heritage of Hate, and is in three acts. The Diamond From the Sky is a $20,000 prize photoplay, $10,000 was paid for the scenario, and now another $10,000 is offered for the best suggestion for a sequel to this remarkable picture. See the picture here each week then send in your idea, you have a chance to win this big prize. Ask at the box office for particulars, it's worth trying for. Another ticulars, it's worth trying for. Another feature picture on this bill is the Cannon Ball, a two-reel Keystone special featuring Chester Conklin, the funny little fellow, who has caused thous-ands to laugh. of $378 in dues. Of these, 44 ar this play offers a subject that is remarkable in more ways than one, particularly in its treatment of the truth. It drives home with vivid force the different forms of hypocrisy practised in our every-day life.

While the church is chiefly involved. in our every-day life.

While the church is chiefly involved in this play (no special creed being designated), the subject in no way criticises the divine belief but, rather, be offered a chance to join, and that anyone interested in the welfare of the people in general, who, from appearances, indicate sincerity in their belief.

The picture opens with a prologue to the story, telling of how Gabriel, an ascetic monk of long ago, after completing a statue on which he had been in the welfare of the town is welcome, whether he is in business for himself or not.

POETRY

AN OLD-FASHIONED GARDEN. An old-fashioned garden? Yes, m No doubt it is, I was thinking here only today, as I sat in the sun How fair was the scene that I looke upon;
Yet wondered still, with a vague sus prise.
How it might look to other eyes.

So quiet it is, so cool and still.
In the green retreat of the shady his and you scarce can tell as you loo within.
Where the garden ends, and the wood begin.
But here, where we stand, what a blaz of light.
What a wealth of color makes glad the sight!

Here gay sweet peas, like butterflies Flutter and dance under summer skies Blue violets here in the shade are sewith a border of fragrant mignonetts And here are pansies and columbine. And the burning stars of the cypres vine.

Stately hollyhooks, row on row,
Golden sunflowers, all aglow,
Scarlet popples and larkspurs blue,
Asters of every shade and hue;
And over the wall like a trail of fir
The red nasturtium climbs higher and higher,

think my soul would be more co forted

If I could say: "Where'er my feet are led,
At the long last, this place will be m;
bed."

My plot would face the sun, and all day long Soft checkered light and shade should dance upon My waiting home and that shem throng. To me 'twould seem a haven safe and Far from hot squalid streets and city's A place forever quiet and secure.

I envy those who go with tottering feet
To plant with feeble hands a message speet.
Within their plot, to those they soon may gneet. No wealth have I, no kindred, or a Stern fate alone can tell where I may

Before I sleep at last beneath the And oh! that I might know where I shall lie!

My sorry days would pass more peacefully—
We dread so many things, my soul and I!
